Wheaten Words

MESSAGE FROM THE PRESIDENT

2013 came to a close with our Club members hosting the Wheaten booth at the annual AKC Eukanuba National Championship Meet the Breed. We received many kudos from our National Club for our efforts. Thank you to everyone who took time from his or her busy schedule to work the booth with their wheaten (s) and ensured our breed was well represented.

Our first event of 2014, our Annual Picnic, was well attended by 79 people and at least 50 wheatens. From puppies to seniors and everything in between it was great to see so many wheatens and their owners. I sure hope this is indicative of the involvement of our members during the coming year. We have a lot of activities planned for the first half of the year starting with our first "Agility Day" (no experience needed) in late March. "The Wonderful World of Wheatens" scheduled in May is a must attend for members and their wheatens. We will have Canine Good Citizen Testing, Therapy Dog Testing, as well as seminars covering Canine Acupuncture, Dealing with Behavior Issues, and Wheaten Health Q&A. We have a full day planned so check out the website and RSVP as soon as possible as some of the activities have a limited number of participants.

SCWTCGTB, is a Breed Club and we support all wheaten activities and interests.

Our rescue coordinators do a great job and can always use extra hands. If you can transport, foster or support Rescue financially let us know. You are needed.

We are also only one A Match away from being able to apply to become an AKC licensed Club. Do you have a wheaten that is not spayed or neutered and can participate in our final Match scheduled in June at the Tampa Fairgrounds? Please participate! You can also volunteer or just come out, cheer on and support the competitors.

If you have an idea for something that would be of interest to our members let us know. We are only as strong as our membership and people being engaged and participating in our Club activities.

If anyone is looking for a unique vacation with his or her Wheaten check out Camp Unleashed in Asheville, NC. Members Scott & Rosa Mathews experienced it last year with "Dakota" and are considering a return trip this year. Check it out at www.campunleashed.com.

I know it is repetitive, but there is no "I" in Wheaten but there is a "W" and an "E" - together WE can make a difference!

Looking forward to seeing everyone soon!

CONSEQUENCES OF EARLY SPAY/ NEUTER IN OUR PETS

By: Cheryl Johnstone

Did you know that spaying/neutering your puppies too early can have adverse effects on them for the rest of their lives? The big push to spay & neuter our pets before puberty, was a response to the explosion of stray animals. These strays end up in shelters and ultimately have to be euthanized, so it was a valiant effort to address a real problem. Now, the suggestion is that dogs should be spayed/neutered at 6 months or younger because it's healthier.

Well, we now have mounting evidence that supports the claim that keeping your pets intact longer may actually be the healthier approach. Puberty and sexual maturation is imperative for bone, brain and organ development. Veterinarians tell their clients that neutering eliminates Testicular Cancer and Prostatitis, and spaying eliminates Breast, Ovarian & Uterine cancer. What they don't tell people is that at least 1 study shows that intact animals LIVE LONGER! Some other illnesses correlated with early spay/neutering are Osteoarthritis, Anterior Cruciate Rupture, Diabetes, Prostatic Cancer, Urinary Incontinence, Urinary Tract Infection. These are just a few conditions that are overly represented in spayed and neutered dogs. Above I've explained some "long term" health adversities in dogs who were spayed/neutered, now let me explain the immediate adversities to the puppy who is spayed/neutered too young... the job of the hormones is to tell the growth plates when to stop developing new bone, which are contained in & released by the reproductive organs. Remove the organs - remove the hormones! Without the hormonal signal to stop development (neutered pup), the growth plates which have NOT closed at the time of surgery will continue to lay down new bone until it has no more material left to work with!! A study done at Colorado State University revealed that the growth plates of the long bones in pups left intact had experienced normal growth and the plates closed at approximately 42 wks, (about 11 mo. of age). Puppies who were neutered around 7 mo. of age experienced continued growth for approx. 11 more weeks... and pups neutered at 7 wks of age did not stop growing until a whopping 18 WEEKS LATER than the intact pups! This is 4 1/2 mo. of additional growth that nature did NOT plan on!! How does this affect your puppy's body?

- Bones on 1 side of the joint are longer than on the other = altered bio-mechanics. This will affect the stress points on bones and joints.
- Dogs will be taller from the ground up to mid-line & have narrow bodies. Short upper arm & high in the rear
- Increased incidence of ligament and tendon injuries because the tendons, ligaments & muscles do NOT experience the same altered growth that the bones do that they're connected to for support and movement, therefore increased incidence of Dysplasia-(hip/shoulder & elbow).

We know it's not practical for the "pet" owner and poses challenges to keep your dog intact... females coming into heat, males that may become dog aggressive and/or mark, not to mention the fact too, that we as breeders don't want dogs we place as "pets" running around intact to possibly breed with dogs that are not healthy and would negatively impact our lines!

I personally think the BEST compromise is to wait until your dog reaches at least 12 mo. of age. This allows your dog to reach full maturation & adulthood before considering this type of surgery. Understand there are options, discuss them with your puppy's breeder, then be your puppy's advocate & take the approach that you and your breeder feels is right and BEST for you and your dog.

NEW 2013-2014 VACCINATION PROTOCOL

By: Jean Dodds, DVM

Dr. Dodds is founder of HEMOPET, the non-profit animal blood bank, and a friend to animal lovers the world over. HEMOPET is where we can have blood tests (titers) to check for vaccine antibodies instead of unnecessarily re-vaccinating our companion animals. She has written excellent articles that everyone, especially our veterinarians, should read.

All of the 27 Vet Universities in the US have followed the immunization protocol as suggested by Dr. Dodds for years. Dr. Dodds has made only slight, minor changes to the basic, core Canine Vaccination Protocol this year from what she established in previous years. Dr. Dodds bases her decisions on numerous factors such as presence of maternal immunity, prevalence of viruses or other infectious agents in the region, number of reported occurrences of the viruses and other infectious agents, how these agents are spread, and the typical environmental conditions and exposure risk activities of companion animals.

Dr. Dodds considers infectious canine hepatitis (adenovirus-1), canine adenovirus-2, bordetella, canine influenza, canine coronavirus, leptospirosis, and Lyme regional and situational. Please research the prevalence in your area, and discuss it with your veterinarian.

Some common diseases with vaccines available

- Distemper..... an airborne viral disease of the lungs, intestines and brain
- Parvovirus..... a viral disease of the intestines
- Parainfluenza... infectious bronchitis
- Hepatitis..... a viral disease of the liver caused by canine adenovirus
- Rabies..... a viral disease fatal to humans and other animals
- Bordetella... a bacterial infection of the upper respiratory system (kennel cough)
- Leptospirosis... a bacterial disease of the urinary tract
- Corona..... a viral disease of the intestines

The following vaccine protocol is offered for those dogs where minimal vaccinations are advisable or desirable (includes SCWT). The schedule should not be interpreted to mean that other protocols recommended by a

| Age of Pups | Vaccine Type |
|--|--|
| 9 - 10 weeks | Distemper + Parvovirus, MLV (e.g. Intervet Progard Puppy DPV) |
| 14 weeks | Same as above |
| 16 - 18 weeks (optional) | Same as above (optional) |
| 20 weeks or older, if allowable by law | Rabies |
| 1 year | Distemper + Parvovirus, MLV |
| 1 year | Rabies, killed 3-year product (give 3-4 weeks apart from distemper/parvovirus booster) |

veterinarian would be less satisfactory. It's a matter of professional judgment and choice. Perform vaccine antibody titers for distemper and parvovirus annually thereafter. Vaccinate for rabies virus according to the law, except where circumstances indicate that a written waiver needs to be obtained from the primary care veterinarian. In that case, a rabies antibody titer can also be performed to accompany the waiver request.

Oxygen Masks for Pets Help Save Lives

By: Lois Hiers

There's no question that a home fire can be devastating - getting everyone out is the priority. But adding more heartache to an already life changing experience, is losing the family pet. While fire trucks in Hillsborough County Florida are well equipped to deal with resuscitating humans, not all trucks have the equipment necessary to help bring a pet back to life. The Wheaten Terrier Club of Greater Tampa Bay is trying to change that.

Stated club corresponding secretary, Lois Hiers, "After seeing a news clip about fireman in Hillsborough County who had to use a human oxygen mask to try to revive dogs that were in a fire, I started researching and found that they make Pet Oxygen Masks but it is not considered necessary equipment for all trucks."

The matter was brought to the club board members and they voted to donate 13 mask kits to the Fire Department. Chief Bailey and his wife were the club's guests and were presented the mask kits at the annual fundraiser dinner.

The Soft Coated Wheaten Terrier Club of Greater Tampa Bay rescues Wheatens from all over the state of Florida, but decided to help all dogs by donating pet oxygen masks to the Hillsborough County Fire Department.

Wag'N Pet Oxygen Mask Kits come with 3 different size masks that can be used on dogs, cats, ferrets, rabbits, guinea pigs, birds and more.

SHOW ARTICLE

HAVE YOU EVER THOUGHT ABOUT SHOWING DOGS?

By: Helen Fraguela w/excerpts from AKC

WHY WE SHOW OUR WHEATENS:

Showing dogs is a great sport for you, your family and your dog, where the thrill of competition is combined with the joy of seeing and potentially breeding beautiful dogs. The dog show scene is like a country fair, lots of hustle and bustle, handlers running in and out of rings, from Jr. handlers to retirees, kiosks where they sell dog items... It can be a lot of fun, but is definitely a lot of work.

There are NO money prizes and this is not a beauty pageant! Since the finest dogs are the future of a breed, we do this to showcase our dogs and select dogs that refine our breeding programs.

In conformation dog shows the dog is being judged as to how well it embodies the "breed standard." Conformation shows help maintain breed quality, it's not enough for a dog to simply look beautiful, they must behave, be well-presented, structurally sound, and conform to the breed standard. Neutered dogs can't compete in conformation.

WHERE TO START:

Familiarize yourself with the SCWT breed standard <http://www.scwtca.org/breed/standard.htm>, show grooming, the rules and regulations regarding conformation shows, visit shows in your area <http://www.infodog.com/showinfo/showmain.htm> and speak with reputable breeders about purchasing a show-quality SCWT. A reputable breeder should be willing to help you get started; Teach you the basics of showing and grooming your own dog, as well as other aspects of training.

NOTE...Wheatens require a great deal of coat care and maintenance, you must make the commitment to keep the coat in good matt-free condition, or don't even consider a show dog!

FINDING THE RIGHT BREEDER:

- Consider track record, length of time in breed, how many dogs have they themselves shown and finished, willingness to help you, positive recommendations from other breeders
- Membership in the all-breed clubs (SCWTCA, SCWTCGTB)
- Health (overall health and temperaments of parents and litter)
- Temperament (of parents and get)
- Pedigree (How and WHY the breeding was planned, what did they hope to improve, and what is the health of previous generations?)
- Understands Wheaten structure and can explain why a puppy is a good show potential based on comparison to the breed standard, you may want a second or third opinion from other experienced breeder/handlers to ensure you are getting a show potential pup.

A show puppy will not be inexpensive, but in the long run a healthy, well bred dog will be far less costly to own and care for.

YOU NOW HAVE YOUR SHOW WHEATEN:

He is a worthy representative of his breed, and you are ready to begin your journey. Your breeder has given you detailed information on feeding, training, supplies you will need, and caring for puppy. All puppies (especially show) should be crate trained, it is the best way to house break a puppy, and keep him and your home safe.

Remember he is your pet first, show dog second. Wheatens need lots of love and attention, and a firm but gentle hand to train. The first few months just focus on building confidence on and off the grooming table. Grooming daily to accustom him to combing, brushing, cutting toenails and minor trimming. While on the table make him stand and get him accustomed to being handled and touched all over.

Caution...Do not do any trimming without proper instruction and training.

Teach walking on a regular leash, never use the show lead for walks. Teach the words "come and stay" at the very least. When out and about ask passersby to touch the dog and feel him with no verbalization.

Never teach a dog to sit unless it's with a VERBAL and intentional command.

At 6 to 8 months enroll yourself and your dog in a conformation show handling class. These are informal classes that teach the basics of showing, setting up your dog, moving him around the ring, and interacting with other dogs without play. Now you are ready to get serious!

The AKC website has some excellent information on how to get started...
